

Reaching the Braunschweig Headquarters of the vTI

The headquarters of the Johann Heinrich von Thünen Institute (vTI) are located on the western periphery of the city of Braunschweig (Bundesallee 50, Telephone: 0531 / 596-0).

Travelling by car

Braunschweig is accessible from both the German Autobahn A 2 Berlin-Dortmund (East-West) and the A 39 Braunschweig-Salzgitter (North-South).

- Coming from Dortmund (A 2): Exit the Autobahn at Braunschweig-Watenbüttel heading towards Braunschweig. Continue on the B 214 to Watenbüttel, make a right at the second light, and follow the signs to the FAL.
- Coming from Berlin (A 2): Exit the Autobahn at Braunschweig Nord onto the A 391 heading toward Kassel. Exit the A 391 at Braunschweig-Lehndorf, turn right and follow the signs to the FAL.
- Coming from Kassel (A 7): Exit the Autobahn from Kassel at the Dreieck Salzgitter onto the A 39 towards Berlin/Braunschweig. At the Dreieck Braunschweig-Südwest exit to the A 391 to the Braunschweig-Lehndorf Exit, travel toward Lehndorf and then follow the signs to the FAL.

Travelling by train

Travel to the Braunschweig Hauptbahnhof (ICE Station). Continue your trip from the main train station with a taxi or public transportation (public buses require about 30 minutes).

The bus lines M11 towards "Lamme" and the 461 towards "Lehndorf, PTB" run regularly. Exit the bus at the bus stop "Bundesallee". The bus stop is located directly at the entrance to the vTI. Since the vTI headquarters are very large, either plan for a long walk or arrange for your host to pick you up at the main entrance. A walk from the main entrance to Forum, the main location for events, requires about 15 minutes.
